Dear Derek

I have been taking a keen personal interest in the Calcot project because of its crucial importance to Savacentre and the Sainsbury group. It seems to be one of the most challenging projects we have asked a team to undertake, but the delight at its successful completion is all the greater for that.

Teamwork and partnering have played a great part in the achievement but I know from Chris Isherwood of the huge personal commitment and sheer hard work that you have put in.

The store itself looks stunning. Our retail colleagues and customers are delighted.

You have been a key player in a spectacular achievement that will be the focus of retail press attention for some considerable time. I am very grateful for your contribution, and full of admiration for the commitment everyone has made. Please pass my thanks to all your colleagues involved.

Yours sincerely

Charles Johnston
